FOREWORD

With this edition, THE SYLVAN Staff gives you another link in the chain of yearbooks of Woodland-Olney. We have attempted to record in pictures and in words the accomplishments of the school during the year 1959-1960, so that in the years to come this book may serve as a reminder of your year up the stairway to knowledge in preparation for life.

WE TREASURE BOTH THE ROUTINE

Participating in Activity Period sports, such as football, provides healthful exercise as well as good clean fun.

Study Hall, According to Mr. White's definition, is a place in which to study; but as you can see, this is not always the case. Many happy, relaxing moments occur in the library.

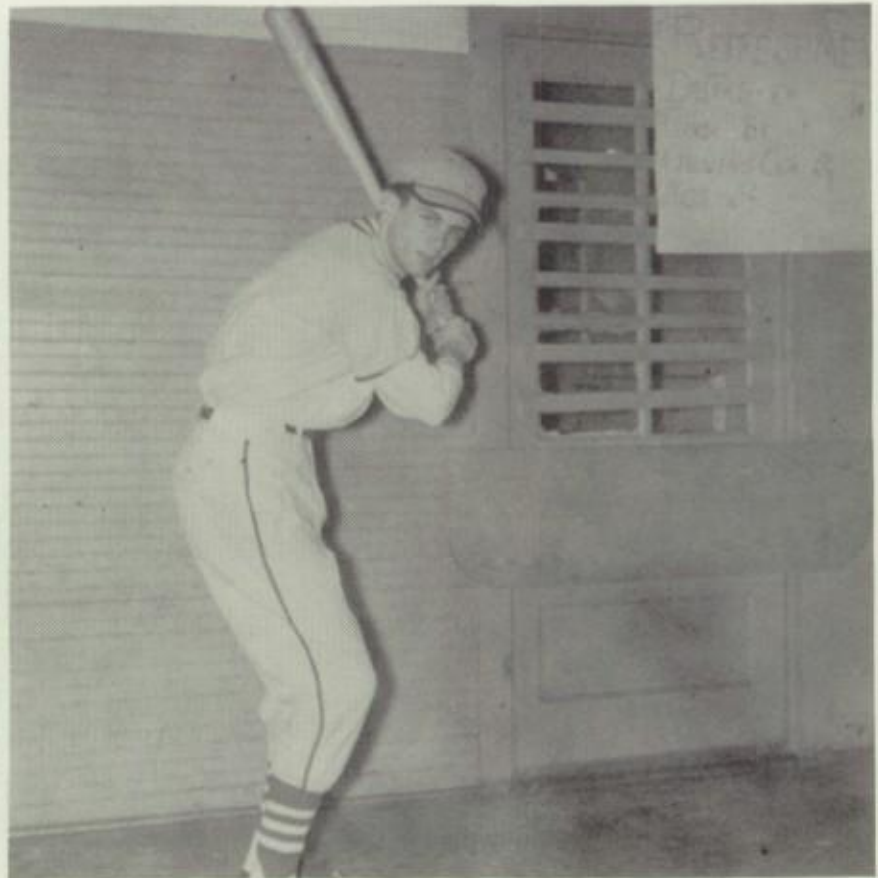

Lunch Period! The magic words that not only spell good food but a break between classes and a time for lively discussions.

DEDICATION

For her faithful service to and undying interest in Woodland-Olney High School, for her patience and understanding, for her loyalty and unselfishness toward both faculty and students, we, the Senior Class of 1960, wish to dedicate THE SYLVAN to Mrs. Esther P. Wethington.

ADMINISTRATION

This picture of Mr. White shows him resting a moment on the sofa in his office, a pleasure which he seldom enjoys. He heads a fifteen-teacher school and teaches three classes in high school each day. Without clerical assistance, he does the bookkeeping for the school and lunchroom in addition to making all the reports necessary in regular school routine.

Working with Mr. White are the members of the local school board. They meet regularly on the last Monday night in each month in Mr. White's office. The members are:

SYLVAN

The SYLVAN is an especially appropriate name for Woodland-Olney yearbooks, as the word means "woodland". The SYLVAN has made its annual appearance for the past twelve years. The yearbook of 1948 strayed from the established name and was called The BEACON. The present sequence of The SYLVAN is a revival of an earlier yearbook. In 1920 a paper-bound issue of The SYLVAN was published with Julia Vann as its Editor-in-Chief. A copy of each year's annual is on display in a cabinet in the front hall of the main building.
